

News Release

Unisem Advanced Technologies Receives Award for Outstanding Performance from Quicklogic

Kuala Lumpur, 16 June, 2010 – Wafer bumping customer Quicklogic recently recognized Unisem Advanced Technologies (UAT) with their award for “Outstanding performance and support during Q1 2010”.

“We all really appreciated the extra effort at the end of the quarter. Without your extraordinary and excellent support, we would have not met our new product shipment commitments. It made a big difference”, stated Andy Pease, President of Quicklogic.

QuickLogic Corporation is the inventor and foremost provider of flexible semiconductor platforms for the hand-held mobile device market. Using our ultra low-power patented technology, QuickLogic supplies leading edge design solutions for the portable consumer, industrial, communications and security-intense military markets.