Salem Belmeguenai appointed COO - Senior Vice President of Unisem Batam

Kuala Lumpur - 19 February 2009: Unisem announced that Salem Belmeguenai has been appointed to the position of COO - Senior Vice President, of PT Unisem, Batam. Salem has been with Unisem for over 6 years as a result of it's acquisition of Atlantic Technology, Wales. He held the positions of Managing Director and General Manager of Unisem Europe for the last 3 years where he has successfully transitioned the Wales factory to its new business model.

Unisem Batam has a long standing record of quality manufacturing in the industry and a large part of that has been due to the leadership of Mike McKerreghan. McKerreghan has been with Unisem's Batam factory from the beginning when it was know as PT Astra, later becoming AIT and now PT Unisem.

Mike McKerreghan will now take on a new role joining the Unisem Corporate Group as the Sr. VP of New Business Development. Mike's leadership skills will be used to drive major group wide projects such as copper wirebonding, new manufacturing equipment, merger and acquisition opportunities and other key group wide activities. In addition, he will remain on the Board of PT Unisem as a Commissioner and will be working closely with Salem to ensure a seamless transition in Batam.

The position of General Manager for Unisem Europe will now be filled by Andy Perry. Andy is also a long time employee of Unisem Europe starting with Atlantic Technology and is well qualified for this position.
